ABOUT

THERE ARE NO LOSSES IN LIFE JUST LESSONS LEARNED. Every experience, trial, and pain teaches us something we never knew about ourselves. Author Jeevan Brown dives into the lives of 16 college students as they experience the trials and tribulations that ultimately made them the men and women they are today. Based on true events, these stories are raw, uncut, funny, nostalgic, and emotional. From near death experiences, rape, drugs, racism, STD's, finances, fashion, relationships and more. Each story gives a detailed account of the challenges followed by triumphs, advice, statistics and the lessons the main characters learned from each experience. This book may help somebody dealing with the same dynamic with hopes that they'll overcome the unfortunate circumstances that he or she is in.

BIOGRAPHY

Brown is a native of Prince George's County, Maryland where he graduated from Charles H. Flowers High school. He attended Johnson C. Smith University (JCSU) in Charlotte, North Carolina. Majoring in Communications, Jeevan took his passion for writing and was hired for his first internship as the Feature Writer for CharlotteVibe.com. He acted as a correspondent for the Charlotte Bobcats NBA team and interviewed American Idol winner Ruben Studdard, Kymani Marley and a plethora of local entertainers and artists. He went on to work as an intern for PLAY Magazine and Jungle Records during his senior year.

After receiving his Bachelors of Art degree from Johnson C. Smith University, Jeevan was determined to make a career out of his first two loves: music and writing. Two months after graduating he moved to Atlanta, Georgia and started writing for OZONE Magazine. OZONE was a bigger media platform that had cover issues with some of hip hops most notable artists like Lil Wayne, Rick Ross, Young Jeezy, and The Underground Kings. As a Contributing Writer, Jeevan interviewed artists for the Patiently Waiting and Internet Features sections. Jeevan interviewed artists such as Twista, Rocko, Rasheeda, Gorilla Zoe and many more. He also received a placement on Gorilla Zoe's 28 Days Later mixtape as a producer.

Jeevan went on to contribute to VisionaryArtistryMag.com and MsRivercity.com where he has written about Gwyneth Paltrow, Future, Migos, and more. After several years in the business Brown switched gears with the intent on making a meaningful impact within the Millennial and Generation-Z community. Today, Brown juggles a corporate job alongside his passion for writing and is a member of Toastmasters International, where he has won numerous speaking awards. His book "A Lesson Learned" has been incorporated into numerous schools (see below) with hopes that it will encourage people, young and seasoned, to keep pushing forward in the midst of hard times.
